

TC3™ INTERNATIONAL SERIES UNVEILS 2015 PROVISIONAL CALENDAR

TC3 International Series has released details of its 2015 provisional calendar. It will consist of twelve race weekends, combining a mixture of well-known circuits with several new venues.

Highlights of the inaugural season will be the three events held within Formula One™ Grands Prix: Malaysia, China and Singapore. The series will visit some celebrated European racetracks such as Monza, Valencia, Algarve, Salzburgring and the brand new Sochi Autodrom.

Buenos Aires in Argentina will mark the first of two South American race weekends, with the series then crossing the Andes to bring the TC3 series to Chile at the new Autódromo Internacional Codegua.

Three events back in the Far East will complete the season, with Singapore being followed by a visit to the new Buriram International Circuit in Thailand, while the venue that will host the final race meeting will be announced in due course.

1	29 March	Sepang International Circuit, Malaysia
2	19 April	Shanghai International Circuit, China
3	3 May	Circuit de la Comunitat Valenciana Ricardo Tormo, Spain
4	10 May	Autódromo Internacional Algarve (Portimão), Portugal
5	24 May	Autodromo di Monza, Italy
6	31 May	Salzburgring, Austria
7	21 June	Sochi Autodrom, Russia
8	26 July	Autódromo Juan y Oscar Gálvez (Buenos Aires), Argentina
9	9 August	Autódromo Internacional Codegua, Chile
10	20 September	Marina Bay Street Circuit, Singapore
11	25 October	Buriram International Circuit, Thailand
12	TBA November	TBA